THAW DEFENSE IS PRACTICALLY IN

When Lunacy Commission Reports the Defendant's Lawyers Will Have No Evidence to Submit

COMMISSION WILL REPORT ON THURSDAY

New York, April 1.—It is probable that the Thaw lunacy commission will report Thursday morning. The case was adjourned last week until this morning, and when the jury was called before the court today Justice Fitzgerald adjourned again the trial until Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The lunacy commission will meet tomorrow and it is expected they will be ready to report Thursday.

In case the commission finds that Thaw is today insane within the meaning of the law the trial will be stopped, but if they find that he is capable of going on, the trial will be resumed at once. It is doubtful if the defense will call any other witnesses, although it has been said that Evelyn Nesbit Thaw would be recalled to repeat her story of the Hummel affidavit. As soon as the defense rests the summing up will begin and will, under the agreement made between the attorneys, last for two days.

The members of the Thaw jury have drawn up a petition to Justice Fitzgerald asking him to allow them $5 a day for jury services instead of the customary allowance of $2 a day. Their action is based on an instance in which the court made a similar increase in the jury's allowance after the case had been extended to an unusual length.

An Important Development.

An important development in the court proceedings against Thaw is the announcement today by counsel for the prisoner that the Thaw side rests so far as further testimony by their side is concerned before the lunacy commission. The defense believes that this will help to bring the hearing to a close by Tuesday night. The defense assumes, of course, that the commission will find that Thaw is now sane.

District Attorney Jerome does not share the opinion of the defense that the defense will conclude its hearing on Tuesday. He said the defense was assuming too much and explained the belief that several days would elapse before the commission reported. Mr. Jerome believes that the commission will hear alienists and he hopes besides that the testimony of Dr. Hamilton will be admitted. There is no doubt that the hearing will be prolonged if the state's alienists are allowed to testify as fully as Mr. Jerome wishes them to do, but the defense's lawyers believe that they will only be permitted to tell what they think of Thaw's present condition.

Daniel O'Reilly, for the defense, announced that Thaw will stand on his testimony before the commission and that counsel will call no witnesses.

Evelyn to Go Before Commission.

When Mrs. Evelyn Thaw made her daily visit to her husband in the Tombs today she was met by a process server who handed her a subpoena directing her to appear before the lunacy commission. Mrs. Thaw apparently had not anticipated this movement and she appeared very much disturbed when the nature of the paper was made known to her. "Do they expect me to testify against my husband?" she asked.

She was told that her presence probably was desired merely as a matter of routine, but this did not seem to assure her. District Attorney Jerome declined to make known his purpose in calling Mrs. Thaw before the commission.

Jerome to Call Experts.

It was reported today that when the lunacy commission resumes its hearing tomorrow, Mr. Jerome will call as his witnesses Drs. Pilgrim and Gregory, of this city, two of the alienists engaged by the defense, and will endeavor to prove by them that Thaw is now insane. Dr. Pilgrim is the head of the New York state lunacy commission and Dr. Gregory is in charge of the psychopathic ward of Bellevue hospital. Both of them are said to have had on several occasions conversations with Thaw during the trial.

It was said later at the district attorney's office that the reason for having Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw served with a subpoena was that it might be necessary to call her before the commission and that the district attorney decided that in that event it would be better to have her on hand.

DOUMA HAS TAKEN UP AGRARIAN ISSUE TO DISCUSS

Two Proposals for Land Laws Are Before Russian Assembly.

St. Petersburg, April 1.—The discussion of the Agrarian problem, to which the first Russian parliament almost entirely devoted its legislative activity, began in the lower house today. Over a hundred speakers immediately signified their intention of participating in the debate, to which, according to the plans of the parliamentary leaders, only one day per week will be devoted. Neither the constitutional democrats nor the socialists have much expectation of arriving at practical results during the present parliament. They are convinced that any measure involving the compulsory expropriation of land, which is the basic principle of all the liberal solutions, will be vetoed by the emperor and be regarded by the cabinet as a justification for the dissolution of parliament. The project of the constitutional democrats, which was introduced today, is practically identical with last year's draft.

It involves the compulsory expropriation of all estates above established maximums to be determined in each province by commissions created for this purpose.

Where Bills Differ.

The bill contemplates individual ownership, whereas the project of the group of toil, which also was reintroduced, proposes the nationalization of all the land in the empire. The national socialists introduced a bill repealing all Premier Stolypin's temporary Agrarian legislation, but this probably will be allowed to die a natural death in committee, the cabinet's enactments, such as the optional abolition of the communes, modifications of the old system and the distribution of land belonging to the imperial domains, being already too far in effect and too intimately connected with the life of the nation to permit of their withdrawal.

The first speaker today was Prince D. N. Sviatopolk-Mirsky, a monarchist and land owner of Bessarabia and a relative of the ex-minister of the interior of the same name, who made a long speech in defense of individual property, quoting from American and English authorities on the subject.

TURKISH CITY SAID TO BE DESTROYED BY QUAKE

Immense Damage and Big Loss of Life Reported from Bitlis.

Constantinople, April 1.—The report that a severe earthquake, accompanied by loss of life, has occurred at Bitlis, Turkish Armenia, appears to be confirmed, but the number of deaths is unknown.

Beyond a brief message from the missionaries at Bitlis reporting that the town is badly damaged, that they are homeless and that their people are encamped in the snow, which in places is twenty-five feet deep, no news of the disaster has reached this city.

FEAR GREAT DAMAGE WAS DONE.

London, April 1.—The situation of Bitlis, which is built on a rocky slope, with houses constructed of stone, having flat, earthen roofs, causes people here to fear that a great amount of damage has been done. It is described as a picturesque, densely populated town, having but few Europeans among the population. A British vice consul is stationed there, but at present he is absent on leave. Instructions have already been sent to the local authorities to afford relief to the inhabitants, but there is no doubt that outside help is needed.

AMERICANS ARE HOMELESS.

New York, April 1.—According to advices received in New York from W. W. Peet, treasurer of the American mission at Constantinople, the Americans and their people in the mission at Bitlis have been rendered homeless, the snow in the vicinity being twenty-five feet deep. Assistance was urgently requested.

According to the records available, Rev. Royal M. Cool, Eliza Cool, Dr. H. A. Underwood, Charlotte E. Ely and Mary A. C. Ely, of the Eastern Turkey mission, are at Bitlis and Miss Nellie A. Cole, who had not been appointed a missionary, was working in co-operation with the missionaries of the American board. The station at Bitlis was established in 1859.

COAL PRICES UNSETTLED.

Dealers Have No Agreement Regarding Spring Figures.

Fort Wayne coal dealers have not as yet announced a spring schedule of hard coal prices, and the local hard coal market is in a more or less unsettled condition. One company, acting independently of the others, is advertising a rate of $6.50 per ton on hard coal for the month of April. Others are filling only such orders as come without solicitation at the winter figures and are waiting to see what the outcome is going to be. Last year's lowest figures, made May 1, were $7.10 per ton.

Hon. W. P. Breen will go to Chicago wednesday to attend a meeting of the Catholic Church Extension society of the United States of which he is treasurer.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE IN FORT WAYNE THIS WEEK

Indiana Body of Evangelical Association Meets at Bethel Church.

For the first time in its history the Indiana conference of the Evangelical association will be held in Fort Wayne this week. Bishop S. C. Breyfogel, D. D., of Reading, Pa., presiding. The gathering will bring to Fort Wayne a large number both of the clergy and laity of the church, and the sessions will open at Bethel church, Clinton and DeWald streets, on Thursday. It is the fifty-fifth session of the conference.

Preceding the conference sessions, however, is a series of evangelistic services, beginning this evening. The services this evening will be in charge of Rev. C. D. Rarey. Tuesday evening Prof. S. J. Gamertsfelder, D. D., will lecture on "The Incarnation of the Son of God," and on Wednesday evening the sermon will be delivered by Rev. E. Q. Laudeman.

Sketch of the Conference.

The origin of the Indiana conference of the Evangelical association dates back many years. In 1841 the Ohio conference located Fort Wayne mission, which extended over eight counties in this region. This territory was ceded to the Illinois conference in 1844.

In 1851 at the annual session of the Illinois conference the present Indiana conference was formed, with a very small, scattered membership throughout the state. It is now one of the strongest among the twenty-seven conferences of the church, having a membership of over 11,000, with 73 active ministers and a number of additional local ministers. The value of churches and parsonages is over $600,000. The territory of the conference now embraces nearly all of Indiana and a few counties in Illinois, Ohio and Kentucky.

The Fort Wayne Church.

Bethel congregation, Fort Wayne, in whose magnificent church the fifty-fifth annual conference session will be held, was organized in 1867, with sixteen charter members. The beginning, though small, in a little frame church at Holman and Clinton streets, has grown steadily until at the present time it owns a fine lot on the corner of Clinton and DeWald streets, on which towers a beautiful church edifice and a well-equipped parsonage, all free from indebtedness.

Rev. D. E. Zechiel, the outgoing pastor who has closed a four years' pastorate, has realized a healthy growth in every department of the church. The congregation is thoroughly organized and has a voice in every movement of the church. In the last year the church building has undergone extensive repairs and is now ready to bid welcome to the visiting clergymen. A large pipe organ, for which the contract was let in October, was to have been installed in time for the conference session, but the Kimball Organ company, of Chicago, was unable to complete the work in time, and this fact is a great disappointment to the congregation. The organ will be installed later.

ILLITERATE JUROR GIVES NEW TURN TO THE FAVROT CASE

Italian Who Helped Indict the Congressman Knew Nothing of English

New Orleans, April 1.—Inability on the part of a juror to read and write the English language has resulted in a decided turn in the case of Congressman-elect George K. Favrot in the Sixth district of Louisiana, who has been confined in jail for over seven months charged with the murder of Dr. R. H. Aldrich in Baton Rouge last summer. In the district court a demurrer to the indictment was sustained on the ground that one member of the jury, an Italian, could neither read nor write the English language. The state appealed the case to the supreme court which this afternoon affirmed the decision of the lower court.

Favrot is alleged to have shot and killed Dr. Aldrich for aspersions he believed Aldrich to have cast on his family.

George DeWald has purchased a handsome new Pope-Toledo touring car through the Will Peltier agency.

The regular monthly business meeting of the B. Y. P. U. will be held at the home of Mrs. C. A. Hood, 345 West Butler street, Tuesday evening.

Miss Grace Whitmore has resigned her position as stenographer at the Metropolitan Life office, and accepted a similar one in the office of E. Gregg Davis.

The local lodge of Pathfinders will initiate a class of candidates Friday night and also give a banquet at which time they expect to entertain Bluffton lodge No. 51.

The membership of Christ's Lutheran church, Rev. W. H. Schrock, pastor, was very materially increased yesterday by the addition of twenty-one to the membership roll. Six others were received during the past week, making a total of twenty-seven, all but six of whom are adults.

TORRID FINISH FOR CHICAGO'S CITY CAMPAIGN

Republicans Inspirited by Roosevelt's Boom for Busse—Dunne Busy.

Chicago, April 1.—The republican leaders in the municipal campaign now drawing to a close, expressed themselves as delighted with a letter printed in the Tribune of today in which the statement is made "by authority" that President Roosevelt is in favor of the election of Frederick A. Busse, the republican candidate for mayor.

The democratic leaders assert that the letter, coming as it does from a paper which is strongly in favor of the election of Busse, is discredited in advance, and that even though it came from the president himself it is too late to stop the progress of the vote which has set in strongly for Dunne. Chairman W. L. O'Connell, the democratic campaign manager, said today that the election of Dunne is absolutely certain and nothing now can prevent it.

Day of Lively Interest.

The campaign today took on a more lively aspect than at any time previous. All day band wagons were rolling throughout the city advertising political gatherings which were scheduled for all sections of the city and for all hours of the day between noon and midnight. No new epithets were applied for the reason that the supply had been about exhausted, but the old ones were, as usual, hurled back and forth. Chicago has never known a political campaign in which invective and vituperation has played so prominent a part.

The claims by the campaign managers are unchanged, each predicting the election of his candidate by at least thirty thousand. Numerous straw votes have been taken by the papers, which are favorable to Busse and they show the election of the republican candidate by a plurality of anywhere from 30,000 to 75,000. The papers supporting Mayor Dunne have taken no straw vote.

Mayor Dunne is Busy.

Mayor Dunne spent the greater part of today in an automobile going to various meetings throughout the city. He made many speeches, and was at all places received with enthusiasm by his followers. Mr. Busse, who has been confined to his apartments during the campaign because of injuries received in an accident on the Pennsylvania railroad, left his room today for the first time and received the prominent men of his party in his parlor. He and they expressed themselves as absolutely certain of coming success.

FURNITURE TRUST MAGNATE GUILTY

Head of Combine in School and Church Furniture Admits Charges in Chicago Federal Court

OTHER DEFENDANTS REFUSE TO FIGHT SUITS

Chicago, April 1.—F. A. Holbrook, recently indicted by the federal grand jury as the chief promoter of an unlawful combination in school and church furniture, said to be operating in restraint of trade, today entered a plea of guilty before Judge Landis in the United States court. Sentence was deferred.

Thirteen of the fourteen companies which were indicted at the same time with Holbrook entered pleas of nolo contendre. The tenth company, the E. H. Stafford Manufacturing company of Chicago, did not plead, but its representative will file a special demurrer and a motion will be entered to quash the indictment found against it.

Holbrook, who was the only individual indicted, was the agent in Chicago and chairman of the Prudential club, which was said to have been organized for the purpose of preventing competition in the sale of church and school furniture in the United States.

The companies entering pleas of nolo contendre were:

American Seating company, Chicago; A. H. Andrews & Co., Chicago; Superior Manufacturing company, Muskegon, Mich.; Haney School Furniture company, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Hudson School Furniture company, Logan, W. Va.; Peabody School Furniture company, North Manchester, Ind.; Illinois Refrigerator company, Morrison, Ill.; Owensboro Seating and Cabinet company, Owensboro, Ky.; Minneapolis Office and School Furniture company, Minneapolis; Southern Seating and Cabinet company, Jackson, Tenn.; Cincinnati Seating company, Cincinnati; Fridman Seating company, New Richmond, O.; H. PRESIDENT GIVES A LINE ON POLICY IN LETTER

Has No Purpose to Squeeze Railroads, But Wants Some Reforms.

Washington, April 1.—President Roosevelt in declinig the invitation of the Illinois Manufacturers' association to make an address at Springfield, Ill., next week on railroad and financial situation, writes a letter to C. H. Smith, president of the association, explaining such an address from him at this time would be useless, as his position was well understood and as he stands by his previously expressed views.

No Purpose to Do Harmful Thing.

From an authoritative source it is learned that the president has not the slightest intention of taking any action which would invalidate railroad securities. The president holds, on the other hand, that every executive action of his administration regarding the railroads has furnished its own ample justification. Neither has the president, it is pointed out, made any reference to the physical valuation of railroads, holding the roads capable of working out that problem for themselves. Attention is called to the fact that the Northern Pacific and Great Northern roads already have submitted figures regarding such valuation. It is also well understood that the president again will ask congress for power to deal with over capitalization of roads, which request was denied at the late session.

The president, in his letter to Mr. Smith, outlines at length his position on the railroad and financial question, by means of extracts from a speech he delivered at Raleigh, N. C., in 1905, and another delivered in Washington in the same year and from his late messages to congress.

Quotes From Former Address.

Quoting from his Raleigh address, he calls attention to his belief that the government should own nothing which can properly be left in private hands, but that such regulations should be exercised against the railroads as to insure their operation in a spirit of fairness to all concerned. Whatever power the government wields must be with wisdom, caution and self-restraint. Railroads must be protected from any public clamor, no matter how violent, when the roads were in the right.

Referring to his Washington address, the president says railroad rates are not as a whole too high, but that the evils that exist are due to unjust discrimination and this should be prevented by law.

In quoting from his messages to congress, the president outlines again his well known views favoring effective government supervision over corporate organizations, holding any effort to prevent all combination would be useless and vicious. He also justifies the new interstate commerce law.

FEAR FROST HAS PUT CRIMP IN FRUIT OUTLOOK

Indiana Hard Hit by Freeze and Southern Part is Much Damaged.

Indianapolis, April 1.—Reports from different sections of the state differ as to the damage done to fruit by frost last night. New Albany reports the strawberry crop ruined. Madison, with the thermometer at 28, reports considerable damage. The thermometer stood the same at Petersburg, with loss to the small fruit crop. At Washington the mercury registered 25 degrees and damage to fruit is believed to have been caused.

A minimum temperature of twenty-four and a killing frost played havoc apparently with the fruit in the neighborhood of Indianapolis last night. Fruit growers say that it will not be possible to tell until tomorrow or the following day the amount of damage done, but they are of the opinion that the damage was heavy. It is probable that the plum and peach crops have suffered most, with the cherries and apples next.

At Other Points in Indiana.

At Greensburg the mercury fell to 28 degrees last night and there was a light frost. There was ice on the fruit blossoms this morning, but there was a high wind which, it is believed, protected the fruit.

At Martinsville the temperature dropped close to freezing point and a slight frost was reported this morning. There probably will be a slight damage to fruit.

At Muncie the temperature dropped to 22, resulting in a heavy frost. There will be some damage to fruit, though not a heavy loss.

At Terre Haute there was no report of frost. If there was any, it was too slight to do any damage.

At Connersville the mercury fell to 24 and there was a heavy frost. Much damage was done to the fruit, especially peaches and cherries.

At Logansport there was a heavy frost with a temperature of 18 degrees.

AT NEW ALBANY.

New Albany, Ind., April 1.—A heavy frost last night has damaged the fruit. Many fruit growers think the destruction of the crop is total. Blossoms today are black and withered. The strawberry crop is probably a total loss.

AT MADISON.

Madison, Ind., April 1.—The thermometer stood at 26 last night. There was much frost and it is feared the fruit has suffered.

SITUATION SERIOUS BUT STRIKE MAY BE AVERTED

Western Railway Managers and Trainmen Not Yet Together.

Chicago, April 1.—The situation in the controversy between the western railroads and trainmen and conductors was not today materially altered from yesterday. Another series of conferences will be held during the day, in which Chairman Knapp, of the interstate commerce commission, and Secretary Neill, of the United States labor commission, will be active participants. The report circulated yesterday that a large number of members of the two organizations are not in favor of a strike, although denied by the leaders of the trainmen and conductors, led both Chairman Knapp and Mr. Neill to believe that terms satisfactory to both sides may ultimately be reached.

Situation is Not Hopeless.

Chairman Knapp said today: "There is nothing that I can say now and I will not have anything to say until the matter has been definitely arranged or until I am certain that my efforts can produce no further results for good. The situation is not hopeless and I feel encouraged, but that is all that I can say now. I do not mean that an agreement is certain, but that something may yet be done."

Railroads yesterday announced a secret canvass just completed among their employes showing a strong sentiment against calling a big strike and in favor of accepting the offer of the roads. Later a report was spread that leaders of the unions were preparing to make several concessions. It was said that the demand for a nine hour day may be abandoned and that the men also may decide to take less than twelve per cent. advance in pay.

WILL GET NATURAL GAS.

Work on Pipe Lines From Illinois to Terre Haute Is Begun.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 1.—Information has been received by officials of the Citizens Gas company that the laying of mains for the pipe line to Terre Haute from the natural gas wells in the Robinson (Ill.) field, has begun. The company expects to be distributing gas by October. The distance from the field is nearly fifty miles. The pipe line will cross the Wabash river near Palestine, Ill., and come through Sullivan, Shelburn and Farmersburg, this state, in all three of which places it is intended to sell gas.

VOTING IN MICHIGAN.

Detroit, Mich., April 1.—News from the state indicate that a very light vote will be cast today. The weather is fine but country roads have been bad for days and this together with the lack of interest except in places where hot local fights are on will keep the vote down.

SIX TRAINMEN DIE IN COLLISION IN TEXAS

Head-On 2 Freight Trains Batter Together and Men Are Killed.

Fort Worth, Tex., April 1.—Six trainmen were killed in a head-on collision between two freight trains on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad, six miles south of here early today. The dead:

Engineer Wooden and Fireman Hines of the south bound train.

Engineer Caldwell and Fireman Wallace of the north bound train.

Two brakeman, names unknown.

The collision occurred while both trains were running down grade at a high speed.

Fire broke out immediately and the two brakemen were cremated before assistance could reach them. Over three hundred head of cattle were burned and eight cars of merchandise destroyed.

Failure of the north bound train to receive an order is said to be responsible for the wreck.

GOVERNOR HANLY IS REPORTED MUCH BETTER

Able to Attend to Duties But Not Yet Ready to Leave His Home.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 1.—Although Governor Hanly was reported better this morning, on the advice of his doctor he decided not to come down to the office today. He is up and dressed and at work in the library at his home in North Alabama street, and it is thought that he will be down to his office tomorrow or by the middle of the week. No appointments have been announced as yet as coming from him, though it is expected that some will be made within the next few days.

The governor was to have attended a reception that is to be held tonight at Peru under the auspices of Company L, Third regiment, Indiana National guard, but it was stated at his office today that he would not go.

Hon. T. R. Marshall, of Columbia City, is a Fort Wayne visitor.

STATE TAX BOARD JOBS ARE NO LONGER SNAPS

Board Has Lots to Do, But Must Be in Session a Whole Lot.

Indianapolis, April 1.—Under the law passed by the last legislature, the state board of tax commissioners becomes more than an incident each year, and its sessions, starting on the first Monday in April—today, this year—will last almost throughout the whole summer, with the exception of the latter part of May and the month of June.

The first session of fifty days ending May 20, was begun today. The daily sessions this week will be executive sessions. Starting next Monday the board will hear statements from representatives of telephone companies all the week. April 15 and 16 it will hear the express and telegraph companies and the last three days of that week, April 17, 18 and 19, the sleeping car, transportation and pipe line companies will be heard. During the week beginning April 22 the electric street and interurban companies will have hearings, and the steam railroads during the week of April 29 to May 4, inclusive. During the remainder of this first session the board will make the assessments on these properties.

The second session, beginning July 2, will be devoted to hearing appeals from the assessments made at the first session, and the third session, beginning July 15, and continuing from twenty to thirty days, will be devoted to appeals from the assessments of county boards of review and to the assessment of the real estate of the state. This real estate assessment is made every four years under the law.

TWO KILLED IN MISHAP.

New York, April 1.—Two men are believed to have lost their lives in a collision in the North river early today when the tug John D. Daily was run down and sunk by the ferryboat Musconetcong of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad company. The men unaccounted for are John Shanaphy, first officer, and a deck hand named McDavitt.

St. Joseph, Mo., April 1.—Charles L. Stanley, a commercial traveler, was killed here last night by Wesley Christopher. Christopher, it was alleged, had assaulted a young woman in an alley and when Stanley heard her screams he ran to her rescue and was shot in the heart. Christopher was arrested.

NEW HOSPITAL FOR JERUSALEM.

Jerusalem, April 1.—The foundation stone of the new German hospital on the Mount of Olives was laid yesterday in the presence of the governor of Jerusalem, the other local officials and many spectators to the accompaniment of cheers for Emperor William and for the sultan of Turkey who gave the land and authorized the construction of the hospital.

TELLS OF SMATHERS' PLOT TO UNFIT TROTTER

Former Driver Says Plan Was to Aid Delmar by Unfitting Lou Dillon.

New York, April 1.—Trial was begun before Justice Greenbaum and a jury in the supreme court here today of the suit of the Memphis Trotting association against E. E. Smathers for the recovery of the famous gold cup won by the trotting stallion Major Delmar in a race at Memphis in October, 1904, from the mare Lou Dillon. Mr. Smathers is the owner of Major Delmar, while Lou Dillon is the property of C. K. G. Billings. It is claimed by Mr. Billings, who induced the Memphis association to take up his cause, that Lou Dillon lost the race because of fraud and a conspiracy to disable the mare.

The matter has been pending for some time before the National Trotting association and the board of review of that association last December awarded the cup to Mr. Smathers.

Mr. Smathers, owner of Major Delmar, and possessor of the gold cup, was present at the afternoon session of court.

Driver Spear's Story.

George W. Spear, a driver and trainer, who was in Mr. Smathers' employ from 1900 to 1905, was called as the first witness by the plaintiff.

At the Lexington meeting in 1904, just prior to the Memphis races, Spear said Smathers had talked with him about the coming race between Major Delmar and Lou Dillon.

"Mr. Smathers asked me if I would not see 'Eb' Sanders, a brother of Millard Sanders, the trainer of Lou Dillon, and find out what could be done to have Lou Dillon beaten.

"I spoke to 'Eb' Sanders and told him Mr. Smathers wanted to win the cup with Major Delmar and wanted to know if Lou Dillon could not be beaten. 'Eb' said he would speak to his brother and see what could be done. He wanted to know what Mr. Smathers would give. I said I did not know.

In his opening address to the jury, Judge Hatch declared that it would be shown that prior to the deciding race for the gold cup on October 18, 1904, the defendant Smathers, owner of Delmar, conceived the idea of unfitting Lou Dillon and that as a result of the conspiracy which followed a drug was administered to the mare. This drug prevented her from showing her usual burst of speed and caused her defeat. After the race it was seen Lou Dillon was in no condition to race, although in the morning workout she had displayed her usual speed.

The attorneys for the defendant moved that the suit be dismissed on the ground that the Memphis Trotting association was not the rightful owner of the trophy at the time of bringing suit.

Justice Greenbaum denied the motion.

Thought $10,000 Too Much.

"The next day 'Eb' Sanders told me the mare could be beaten for $10,000. I took this message to Mr. Smathers and he said he would not give it; that it was too much; he would pay $5,000 and no more. I made this proposition to 'Eb' Sanders and he said the mare could not be beaten for $5,000; that it would take $10,000. Mr. Smathers again said this was too much. He asked me what Sanders would do to the mare and I told him Sanders would take the mare's feed away for a few feeds. He asked me if I thought that would be sufficient and I said I did not think so—that it would take more than loss of feed to have Lou Dillon beaten by Major Delmar. He asked me if I did not know of some drug that would be sure. I said I had never drugged a horse and did not know. That was all I did in the matter."

Ancestral Pride.

"Your honor," pleaded Goodina Gearcase, "I haven't always been like this. I am descended from Revolutionary forefathers."

"You certainly seem to have reached the bottom," said his honor. "I'll give you a chance to rise. You will go up for sixty days. Call the next case."—Chicago Tribune.

HELEN GOULD'S POCKETBOOK

Her Philanthropy is a Philanthropy of the Heart as Well as of the Check Book.

Copyright 1907 by the Broadway Magazine.

HELEN MILLER GOULD.

Many people consider their Christianity surely tested when it reaches their hearts. Helen Gould's goes deeper. It reaches her pocket-book. It may be comparatively a little thing that out of her millions she spends $450,000 on a clubhouse for sailors, but it is at the cost of a leisure as dear to her as to any other woman that she also takes the time to write her name and a verse of Scripture on the fly-leaf of each of the one thousand Bibles that she yearly gives them. Denying herself grand opera and all of the music and literature and art which she has the taste and money to enjoy, she deliberately turns her face to a prayer-meeting instead, and such is her exaltation of spirit that I am not sure but she prefers to do it. At any rate, hers is a face illumined as she drops to her knees in prayer at a special service for sailors on board of a war-vessel in the Brooklyn navy yard, and when she softly implores, "Don't you want to be a Christian?" the roughest Jack Tar among them vows that he does.

It is the same gracious personality that is behind all her moneyed philanthropies, says Mabel Potter Daggett in the April issue of the Broadway Magazine. Whe she dedicates an institution, she does not set it up a lifeless thing of stone and mortar. She breathes into it her very own spirit, so that you find there an almost inspiration.

Helen Gould's beneficence has brought her recognition that is unique in history, and it has been in spite of her protest. With a shrinking feminine timidity to which publicity is positively painful, she has begged to be allowed to go about her philanthropy in so quiet a way that her left hand should not know when her right hand did it. So far as possible she has done this, but many of her gifts have loomed so large on the public view that they could not be hid. In gratitude she has been hailed with that acclaim with which we are wont to greet a presidential idol or a naval hero, but never before a woman.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to extend to our friends in general and to the members of the lodge of Eiks and aerie of Eagles our heartfelt thanks for the generous outpouring of sympathy that was extended us at the time when our home was so saddened by the death of Charles Sylvester Stahl. The visit of the angel of death that came to us with such suddenness brought with it the sweet consolation that our friends rallied about us and did everything in their power to soften the poignant grief that was ours and we seek this means of expressing an appreciation that comes from hearts filled to overflowing with thankfulness.

MOTHER, WIFE, BROTHERS AND SISTERS.

ITALIANS THRIVE IN TEXAS.

Flourishing Colony Planted Where All Are Happy and Growing Rich.

Bryan, Tex., is an example of what is being done in the south by colonies of Italian immigrants. There are in that township 2,500 contadini under the spirited guidance of a young Sicilian priest, Father Giovanni Militello.

They raise mostly grain and cotton either on their own lands or on rented farms, which they get at $5 an acre a year. They save from $100 to $1,000 a year and live comfortably on the rest.

Father Militello was able to collect in a few days $1,100 to cancel the debt on the local church. His parishioners embellished the church with a number of statues and presented their pastor with a safe and buggy and team. Once a month he drives to the farthest point in the township and celebrates mas in a tent.

Living is cheap flour, meat, sugar, coffee and oil are at low price. Meat sells at 5 cents a pound. State and county taxes are very light and the climate is like that of Sicily. Land is so abundant that its use is given free for two years to those who will clear it of timber. The Italians cut the timber and sell it at $2 for eight cubic feet, raise grain the first year and get a crop of cotton the second.

"It was encouraging to see along the road the vast cotton and grain plantations," says a visitor. "Those kept by Italians could be distinguished because of their freedom from weeds. As we drove past the priest would call out to some of the farmers by name and they would leave their spade or plow and come running to us, hat in hand. Behind the farmers came the farmers' wives and the children and how many children! I found one mother with eleven of them!"

GAMBLERS SEND LAWYER AND REMAIN AWAY FROM COURT

All Admit They Were Playing Poker and Pay—City Court.

Under the names of R. O. Easter, John Smith, Fred Miller, John Brown, John Alexander, George Elder, George Edwards, G. M. Heckley, George Williams and John McGick, all assumed for the occasion, ten men who were found engaged in a game of poker over Kleindinst & Malle's saloon at Wayne and Calhoun street about 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon paid fines of $10 and costs each in the city court this morning upon pleas of guilty entered for them by Attorney Harry G. Hogan. William Malle was fined $35 and costs for keeping a gambling house and the judge announced that from this time on the amount will be raised at the rate of $5 for each future appearance.

The men were captured in a raid by Chief of Police Ankenbruck, Lieut. Lapp and Detective Lenz. Schuyler Myers was in the rooms, but on account of an affliction he was not taken to headquarters. There was no other gambling paraphernalia in the room except the cards and checks, all of which were confiscated. The most of the players were business men who kept under cover with their names.

The Other Cases.

Lillian Maples, Sarah Huffman and two men who gave the names of Fred Williams and Jack Alder, were fined $5 and costs each on specific charges of immorality. They were arrested in a house on Greenwood avenue yesterday.

Howard Swain and Thomas Johnson, charged with stealing beer from cases in the Wabash freight house, were let go. There was no direct evidence against them and the cases were continued indefinitely.

William Hicks, an old offender, got off with a fine of $5 and costs for drunkenness because he has a good job and his employer was willing to stand for the fine.

Peter Bernhardt, a Wallen blacksmith, insisted he was asleep in his shop when Patrolman Elliott awakened him at the interurban station last night. He admitted that he comes to the city often and gets drunk, but he works hard as a rule and was let go.

Harry Eckerle and Arthur Parker were engaged in a drunken fight on Calhoun street early Sunday morning and they were allowed to go under indefinite continuances as they are young men and were up for the first time.

Frank P. Shafer for drunkenness was turned over to the City Mission for fifteen days.

James Williams, found on Frye street with two good bicycles on his push cart, had his case continued until tomorrow morning and some investigations as to his mental condition will be made.

Julius Besancon, charged with taking a watch chain from a second-hand store, was placed in charge of the probation officer.

Leon Orito, an Italian, proved that he shot a companion accidentally last Sunday and the case against him was dismissed. The shooting occurred in a boarding house in the rolling mill district and was the result of carelessness in handling a revolver.

THERE'LL BE SOME DOINGS WHEN TONY FINDS HIS DAD

Son of Italian Suspected of Slaying Daughter on Warpath for Pa.

New York, April 1.—The lifeless body of Mrs. Marie Trepi, aged 24, an Italian, was found today lying in the hallway outside of her apartment in Union street, Brooklyn. Her throat was cut and a bloody carving knife with which the murder was done lay beside her. A man's hat said to belong to her father, Antonio Lancia, could not be found. His son, Arthur, said that Lancia and his daughter quarreled today over money. On learning of his sister's death, the boy took a big knife and started in search of his father.

Time Enough.

De Broke—Say, old fellow, there was a time when you promised to share your last dollar with me.

De Rich—That's all right. I haven't got down to it yet.—Pueblo Chieftain.

He Knew Better.

"Very pleasant out this way now, isn't it?" growled the sarcastic Mr. Backlotz as he plowed through the snow and mud.

"Not very, to be sure," replied Subbubs, "but there's one comfort about it"—

PRINCE OF INDIA HERE IN ITS ORIENTAL SPLENDOR

Big Company and Vast Equipment Ready for Opening Tonight.

In a special train of eight cars over the Lake Erie and Western railroad, the Klaw & Erlanger production of the "Prince of India" arrived in Fort Wayne last night. It comprised a big company of more than 100 people and a wealth of stage equipment and scenic investiture much larger than that ever used in a production in Fort Wayne, and from the moment of the company's arrival preparations were started for the opening of the week's engagement at the Majestic theater this evening.

The train was delayed in making the run from Evansville to this city, and it reached Fort Wayne two hours behind the scheduled time for arriving in this city. The enterprise is on so stupendous a scale that it is difficult to realize that it is a theatrical production. Its immensity suggests rather the big circuses whose arrival is each years awaited with tense interest by the small boy and some of his older friends as well. The same absolute system and attention to detail prevails in handling the "Prince of India" enterprise that characterizes the movement of the larger railroad shows. It is directly in charge of Manager W. H. Knowles, who, with a number of the principals of the company, are at the Wayne. Other members of the company are distributed among the various hotels of the city.

Has Been a Busy Day.

This has been an extremely busy day about the Majestic theater, but the work has been gotten out of the way so rapidly that everything is in perfect order for the opening performance tonight, and it will be given with precisely the same degree of excellence that characterizes the later renditions of the big production.

One can have but little idea of the real immensity of the production until he has seen the tremendous mass of scenery, stage mechanism, costume and other equipment hauled into the theater. There is a literal mountain of it, yet the handling of the equipment is so systematized that there is no confusion. Back of the Majestic drop curtain today the scene has been a lively one, but order and system is plainly discernable in the preparations.

Supers Are Drilled.

Then came the supernumeraries who are to augment the regular company in the personation of the Greek and Moslem rabble, soldiery, etc., and there are scores of them, both male and female. They reported at the stage doors of the Majestic early today, and with the assistance of all but the principals of the company have been thoroughly drilled in the action of those portions of the play in which they figure as a part of the oriental picture. The tremendous scope of the Majestic stage will enable the production to be given in all its vast entirety. Not a moment during the day has been lost in preparation for the opening, and Manager Knowles says the curtain will rise this evening upon a perfect production. The seat sale for this evening, as well as for the other seven performances in Fort Wayne, has been very large, and it is still being maintained at a rate that is highly gratifying to the Majestic management.

HOW WARS BEGIN.

Pa Tried to Explain to His Son, but Was Interrupted.

"Papa, how do nations get into war with each other?" asked Harry.

"Sometimes one way, sometimes another," said the father. "Now, there are Germany and Spain. They came near getting into war because a Spanish mob took down the German flag."

"No, my dear," put in Harry's mother. "That wasn't the reason."

"But, my darling," said Mr. M., "don't you suppose I know? That was the reason."

"No, dearie, you are mistaken. It was because the Germans tried"—

"Mrs. M., I say it was because the"—

"Peleg, you know better. You are only trying to"—

"Madam, I don't understand that your opinion was asked in this matter, anyway."

"Well, I don't want my boy instructed by an old ignoramus."

"See here, you impudent"—

"Put down your old cane, you brute. Don't you dare bristle up to me or I'll"—

"Never mind," interrupted Harry. "I think I know now how wars begin."—Lippincott's Magazine.

The Truthful Child.

Auntie (upon her return, to somewhat possessive nephew)—Did Tommy play with you while I was out, darling? He didn't make you cry?

Nephew—He made me cry a little bit.

Tommy—Oh, Philip, I made you laugh nearly all the time mother was out!

Nephew—Well, I laughed till I cried.

B. Paul Mossman will deliver an address tonight before the Men's club of the Plymouth Congregational church on the subject, "Personal Experiences in Palestine."

OLD BRICK PAVEMENTS TO BE REPLACED WITH CEMENT

Board of Public Works Has Five Miles Outlined —City News.

The dilapidated brick pavements that have done duty in the central portion of the city since a short time after the establishment of the old fort and which have about outlived their usefulness will be replaced to a great extent by cement walks during the summer.

This is the edict of the board of public works which announced through Chairman E. J. Lennon today that about five miles of new walks are under consideration. He also said that he was not ready to give out the streets for fear that the board would be besieged with kicks, but resolutions will be prepared in a short time.

On Inspection Trip.

Accompanied by the officials of the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley Traction company, a party of city officials, including the mayor, members of the board of public works and the councilmen, made a trip through Spy Run this afternoon to ascertain whether or not it is possible to place the feed wires from the power station under ground.

The invitation was extended to the board and members of the council a week ago by Attorney J. M. Barrett, who announced that the company had found no practical way of accomplishing the work.

Municipal Notes.

The board of public works will open bids this afternoon late for publishing the annual reports.

The Barber Asphalt Pavement company put a gang of men at work today repairing Calhoun street.

When He Was Wrong.

This story is told of a college professor who was noted for his concentration of mind.

The professor was returning home one night from a scientific meeting, still pondering over the subject. He had reached his room in safety, when he heard a noise which seemed to come from under the bed.

"Is some one there?" he asked.

"No, professor," answered the intruder, who knew of the professor's peculiarities.

"That's strange. I was positive some one was under my bed," commented the learned man.—Judge's Library.

SALOON MEN FIGHT TO OPEN CEDAR CREEK TOWNSHIP

Frank Disler and Lloyd Hursh Before the Commissioners.

The saloon interests opened a fight in the commissioners' court this afternoon to beat the general remonstrance in Cedar Creek township and to secure liquor licenses for Frank Disler, at Hurshtown, and Lloyd Hursh, at Grabill.

Disler had an application before the board two months ago and withdrew it on account of the strong opposition and for fear of defeat, and he renewed a short time ago and Hursh has just come in for his license. Both declare that they have secured the withdrawal of forty-three names from the remonstrance, which contained 163 of the 310 voters, but it is claimed by the temperance interests that the remonstrance was not affected as the withdrawals were not filed four days before the meeting of the county commissioners on Feb. 4, which was necessary to make it legal. After a short argument a postponement was taken until April 17.

Prosecutor Called In.

Members of the board appealed today to Prosecutor Dan B. Ninde to proceed against men who have failed to take out saloon licenses after they have been granted. Jacob Beckes is one of the offenders. He made an application and his bondsman withdrew and when he was notified to file a new bond he paid no attention to it.

Harry Alderman and Ray Reaser were each granted licenses on March 4 and County Auditor George W. Lindemuth stated today they had not paid for them and it is likely that affidavits will be filed in all of the cases.

License is Refused.

William J. Jones advertised that he would make application for a license at Shirley, omitting the word "city," and for that reason he was turned down by the board this afternoon on the ground that the notice was not specific. It was printed in English in a German paper.

Makes First Report.

Prosecutor Dan B. Ninde made his first report under the new salary law to the county auditor this afternoon and then had to apply to the board of commissioners for an order to pay his salary. He collected $15 and his salary amounted to $205.56, and will be paid, as the statute prescribes that it can be paid out of any fund in the treasurer's hands not otherwise appropriated.

MEN BEST DIAMOND CUTTERS.

Many women are well versed in the tricks of buying and selling diamonds, while others give excellent satisfaction in polishing, setting them and preparing them for the market, but when it comes to the real cutting of the stones they lack the patience, judgment and steadiness of nerve which constitute the expert's stock in trade. It would seem that diamonds have the same effect upon the woman who wishes to shape them that they have upon the girl who sees one of them sparkling in her new engagement ring—puts them in a tremor of excitement. Hence diamond cutters are invariably men.

ARREST ALLEGED SWINDLERS.

Cleveland Police Believe Prisoners Much-Wanted Wiretappers.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 1.—In the arrest here yesterday of three men and a woman giving the names of Edward Weiss and Max Morris, of New York, and Charles Druker and Claudius Carldon, of this city, the police believe they have caught a clique of clever "wire-tappers" wanted in several cities.

The arrests were made following an alleged attempt to swindle J. D. Marks, a wealthy scrap iron dealer here, out of $5,000. A draft for that amount, signed by Marks, was about to be turned over to Weiss, when two policemen, secreted near where the transaction was in progress, arrested Weiss and Morris. The others were taken in later as accomplices.

Marks told the police that Weiss told him that he was in a position to procure race reports secretly in New York, on the strength of which Marks was promised a large amount of money. They had planned to go to New York Monday, Marks says. Yesterday he mistrusted the plan and sent for a policeman. A meeting at Marks' office was arranged and the arrests ensued.

Northern Indiana News and Gossip

Harry Teal, formerly of Ashley, is dead at Salt Lake City.

The Dunkard or German Baptist people at Columbia City have established a church in that city.

J. W. Berhalter, of Kendallville, has donated the use of two vacant lots in that city as a playground for the boys and girls.

Mrs. Peter Kline, 88 years of age, died Saturday at Rock Creek Center, Huntington county, where she had lived for fifty years.

Harvey Jones, a pioneer resident of Whitley county, died a few days ago at the home of his son in Ozark, Mo. He was 88 years of age.

Boyd Bitner, 4 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Bitner, of Columbia City, was bitten Sunday by a pet bulldog which he was caressing. The animal lacerated the child's left hand badly.

The farm residence of William Grace, east of Laud, Whitley county, caught fire Sunday morning, but with the assistance of neighbors it was extinguished before the damage was extensive.

Isaac Ditmar, of Auburn, and Mrs. G. J. Patterson, residing west of that city, were united in marriage Sunday afternoon. Both bride and groom are 70 years of age, and each has several grown children.

James Stewart and Fred Hapner, of South Whitley, arrested for overdriving a horse from the Harshman livery stable at Columbia City, were fined $1 and costs each, and each agreed to pay Mr. Harshman $25 for damage to his horse.

St. John's Catholic congregation at Goshen expects to erect a new church building during the year, and will devote the present structure to school purposes. Definite action will be taken at once upon the return of Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, who is now in New Mexico for his health.

Thomas Watson, near Newville, DeKalb county, boarded a B. & O. freight train at Hicksville to ride to his home, but fell from the train and was badly injured. He was discovered lying beside the tracks in an unconscious condition and was removed to Hicksville for surgical attention.

James Norris, 55 years of age, residing near Sidney, Kosciusko county, died Saturday morning very suddenly from heart disease. He had retired in his usual health. His wife was later awakened by her husband's labored breathing, but her efforts to arouse him failed and death intervened in a few moments.

Rev. Henry Young, on trial at Wabash on a charge of having deserted his family, declared that his wife was continually nagging at him to give up preaching and remain at home with her; that it was a question of giving up his wife and home or his church, and that he chose to continue preaching because he believed he was called to do so. Mrs. Young's story was not so poetic in detailing the family troubles. Young was found guilty, his fine and costs amounting to $21.60. Failing to have this amount he went to jail, but an effort was quickly started to secure his release.

John Braymer, an Elkhart machinist who has been a slave to the liquor habit, has dictated and signed a remarkable statement in which he warns all saloon men not to sell or give him liquor, and declares that he is going to reform. Braymer's statement is as follows: "I, John Braymer, living at 500 Maple Row, want to announce to wholesale and retail dealers of intoxicating liquors that they shall not, under any circumstances, sell, give or dispose of such liquor to me at any time. I want it understood that if I am not in proper mind to prosecute such sellers, should they violate this injunction, that my heirs of my family shall swear out an affidavit against such liquor dealers for their arrest."

MIMIC WAR ON GAMBLING.

A few weeks ago the police department raided several gambling houses in Fort Wayne and thereupon announcement was made that the vice would be extirpated. Several lots of gamblers taken in various raids were allowed to post forfeit bail and when their cases were called none appeared in court to answer. The cases went by default, the forfeit bail was turned to proper channels as the law directs and so ended that chapter.

Now comes another "crusade" with accompanying announcement that gambling must and shall be abolished in Fort Wayne. Players taken in a raid are booked at the station under assumed names, put up bond money to secure release and again all default when their cases are called. Cash bonds are declared forfeit to the state and that chapter ends. Sooner or later, when there seems to be occasion for repetition of the joke another raid will be pulled off and the same formula gone through with.

The Indiana laws against gambling are ample to rid of gambling any community where the laws are conscientiously enforced. Frequenters of gambling houses, when found guilty, must be sent to jail. The law is mandatory on this point; courts have no discretion in the matter of inflicting the jail penalty, the law works automatically and the magistrate presiding in such a case is presented with no alternative where guilt is adjudged. The charge of frequenting is not made by the police in these raids. The mulctuary penalty is uniform in all instances. The circumstances of one raid on gamblers are to the last trivial incident like the circumstances of every raid. The police play is made as spectacular as possible for the public view and as innocuous as possible for the gamblers. The war on gambling is a sham war. The raids are not made in good faith. There is no purpose to abolish gambling. The whole thing is a stupendous hoax of the public.

Whenever the police department desires to suppress gambling in this city it can be surpressed within twenty-four hours, and that, too, without the accompaniment of any opera bouffe raids. Simple notice to the gaming-house keepers and the gamblers that gambling no longer "goes" in Fort Wayne will answer when that edict goes forth without a string to it.

The canvass for funds needed to entertain the state G. A. R. encampment in this city next May begins this week. It is estimated by the committees having the affair in hand that not less than $6,000 will serve to meet the expenses of the encampment and if more can be secured the entertainment of the veterans will be the more satisfactory and complete. The raising of the amount required ought to be a matter of no great difficulty and if there is general response by citizens to the appeal for funds it will not be required that any one subscribe a large amount. The honor of entertaining the veterans of the great war should be spur enough to secure the necessary money, but added to that consideration is the question of public spirit and civic pride and further added is the question of benefit to Fort Wayne. In many ways permanent benefits will flow to the city from the encampment. Every one who is able should contribute something to this worthy project.

The situation down in Central America is regarded as most serious. The republics not now involved in the war are said to show less and less power of resistance to the itching to mix in the shindig. To be within walking distance of war and have no share in it is quite a lot too much to expect of a Central American government.

Gambling is again undergoing the process of being suppressed. Police measures to that end started yesterday. Proper sense of the fitness of things should have dictated that the start be deferred until today.

The cleverest joke of the season is perpetrated by the weather man on the premature folks who jumped out of their flannels into summer gauze last week.

Not the beer, but the want of it seems likely to make St. Louis famous.

Tomorrow the new company's telegraph station, located in the Keystone block, will be ready to receive messages over the line of wire owned by the company, and which is in working order between this city and Fostoria. Only one operator is needed at present.

Col. J. Appleby Scott this morning made arrangements with the Fort Wayne Jenney Electric Light company to hang an electric lamp of 12,000 candle power over the main entrance of the Academy of Music. The copper wire was stretched from the overall factory of Evans, McDonald & Co. over the branches of the large trees in front of the First Presbyterian church. If the arrangement is successful, the electric light will be burned every show night.

AUTHOR OF HOMESTEAD LAW IS DEAD AT A RIPE AGE

Hon. Galusha A. Grow, Speaker During War, Dies at His Home.

Binghamton, N. Y., April 1.—Former Congressman Galusha A. Grow died at his home in Glenwood, Penn., yesterday afternoon as a result of a general breakdown, attributed to old age. He was never married.

Mr. Grow was elected to congress from the Wilmot district of Pennsylvania as the youngest member of that body in 1851, and after retirement from public life nearly forty years he re-entered the house of representatives as congressman at large from Pennsylvania fourteen years ago. When he retired four years ago his public service in the house extended over the longest period, although not of continuous service, of any man who ever sat in that body.

Mr. Grow was elected speaker of the house of representatives in 1861 and occupied that position during the first two years of the war, until his retirement from congress in 1863.

During his single term as speaker he presided over three sessions of the house. One of them was a called session, which met on July 4, 1861, and ended on August 6. During those five weeks, when armies and a navy had to be created and ways and means provided for their support, and when the general policy of the government toward the seceded states had to be defined, so far as this could be done by legislation at that early day, more work of vital importance to the nation was done than was ever transacted in congress in any period of equal length before or since.

His greatest public service was as "the father of the homestead bill," through which measure many million acres of western farm lands were opened up to settlement by homesteaders, an act which has been credited with doing more than any other one thing for the development of the great west.

He became involved in a personal encounter on the floor of the house with Representative Keitt, of South Carolina, in February, 1858, when Kansas sought admission to the union, when he objected to a message from President Buchanan touching the slave question, and Keitt openly censured him, finally calling the Pennsylvanian a "black republican puppy" and attempting at the same time to strike Grow. The blow fell short and in a trice Keitt was felled by Grow's fist.

What was almost a free for all fight between the two sides of the house followed, but later Keitt apologized. For the plucky stand which he took on the floor that day the Kansas "free state settlers" presented Mr. Grow a gold medal, bearing on one side the figure of an uplifted arm and the legend: "The first blow struck for freedom."

Mr. Grow was born in Eastford, Conn., August 31, 1823, and when he was 3 years old his father died, leaving his mother with six children to care for. She moved in 1834 to Susquehanna county, Pa., where Mr. Grow worked on farms to earn money to acquire an education. He graduated from Amherst college in 1844, and was admitted to the bar three years later.

OBITUARY.

Lyon.

Samuel Kirkendall Lyon was born February 14, 1837, at Ohioville, Beaver county, Pa., departed this life March 4, 1907, aged 70 years and 18 days. He being the eighth child in a family of eleven.

When 17 years old his parents moved to Meigs county, Ohio. He was united in marriage to Miss Louisa Martin on April 15, 1866. Six children were born to this union; five of whom survive him. Alba Otto preceded him to the better world in December 1883, in his 18th year; they moved to the state of Indiana in December, 1875. His brothers, John and Austin, and a sister, Mrs. Matilda Hysell, survive him; the others are waiting for him on the other shore.

Of the immediate family there remains to mourn his loss, the widow, Wilmer L., Viva L., and Samuel H., who are at home; Dalton D., of Ellensburg, Wash., and Mrs. Ivadalla E. Hadsell, of Fort Wayne; also two grandchildren, Pansy P. and Wilmer J. Golden, of Fort Wayne.

Mr. Lyon was one of the many who volunteeder to defend his country; his first enlistment was on April 22, 1861, for three months; was in Company F, 18th Regiment of Ohio Volunteers, under Captain R. S. Curtis, and was honorably discharged at the expiration of his enlistment.

On March 5 of the following year he again enlisted as private in Company 7th. Battery Ohio, from which he was honorably discharged March 4, 1865, at Vicksburg, Miss.

The widow has lost a good husband, the children a loving father, the soldiers another comrade from their ranks and the many friends and neighbors one who was ever ready and willing to lend a helping hand; whether it was in health or in sickness. His departure will be deeply mourned by us all. He had been in good health until February 28, when a heavy cold was contracted, which terminated in pneumonia; confining him to the bed but five days. A few hours before his spirit took its flight, his daughter Viva asked, "Father, how is it with you?" His face was radiant as he said: "Don't cry; it's all right; I'll soon be at rest; prepare to meet me." Surely this is a great comfort to the sorrowing ones.

A few weeks ago Mr. Lyons was gloriously converted and united with the M. E. church. The remainder of his life was full of sunshine and he was in constant touch with God.

Funeral services from the Wesley Chapel M. E. church, Monday at 10:30 a. m., Rev. H. W. Miller officiating. The bereaved family have the sympathy of a host of friends.

He has found the joy of heaven,
He is one of the saintly band.
To his head a crown of gold is given
And a harp is in his hand.
He has learned the song they sing,
Whom Jesus hath set free:
And the glorious vaults of heaven ring
With his new-born melody.

No sin, no grief, no pain;
Safe in his happy home.
His fears are fled, his doubts all plain,
His hour of triumph come.
Oh, friends of mortal years.
The trusted and the true.
Ye are walking still in the vale of tears,
But he waits to welcome you.

You Try It!

Ask the other fellow to furnish your home from cellar to dome and tell him in the same breath that you havn't much money—say $10 or $20, or perhaps $30, is all you can spare. Watch his facial expression and hear him talk. He'll try to make you believe that he is doing wonders for you. He'll ask you to cut your bill in half and raise twice the sum, but how different here. You simply state what is the best you can do in the way of payments, without cramping you in the least, and that's all we'll expect you to do. You wouldn't be treated better if you were a millionaire. You say to the salesman, "Charge It, Please."

And There U R.

How is it possible? Why, you'd expect to get that for as much old iron; most stores sell them for $6.

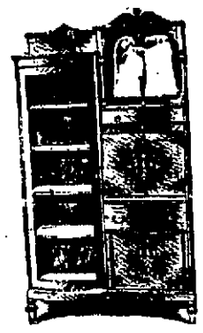
Oak, Mahogany or Bird's-Eye Maple

It's one of the good kind, fit for a palace, and your home is YOUR palace, isn't it? We'll just match it against any shown in competion at $25 at least, and we'll give you any reasonable time to pay for it.

$16.85
for one of the $25 kind.
Combination Bookcase and Writing Desk.



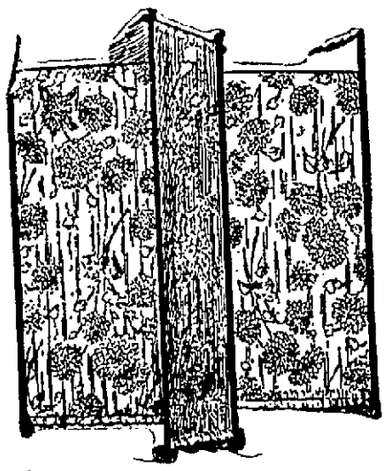
The handiest thing you ever owned, so you'll say—so say all who have ever invested. This one we are offering is a good one, for you can find them at much less money here, if you are satisfied with anything less than the best, or anything less than good.

WHY NOT?

Is there any reason why you should hesitate to furnish as befits the dear ones you have promised to protect and cherish? Lack of funds need not stand in your way—we have told you before and we tell you again, that here your credit is good—what more do you want?

69c
Would be cheap enough at $1.25. That's what they all charge when you pay cash for these.

Three-Fold Screens



The frames are of oak, the filling of—well, let's say some sort of goods that isn't pure silk but looks like it and wears like it—at any rate it's pretty and the colorings are rich, and 69 cents isn't much to pay, anyway; hardly what you'd expect the frame to cost.

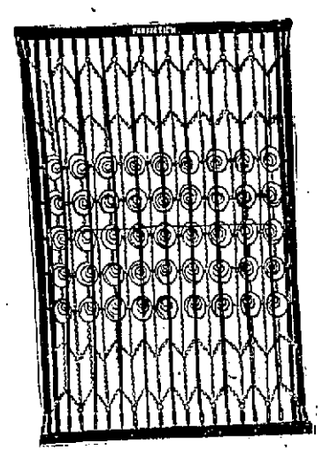
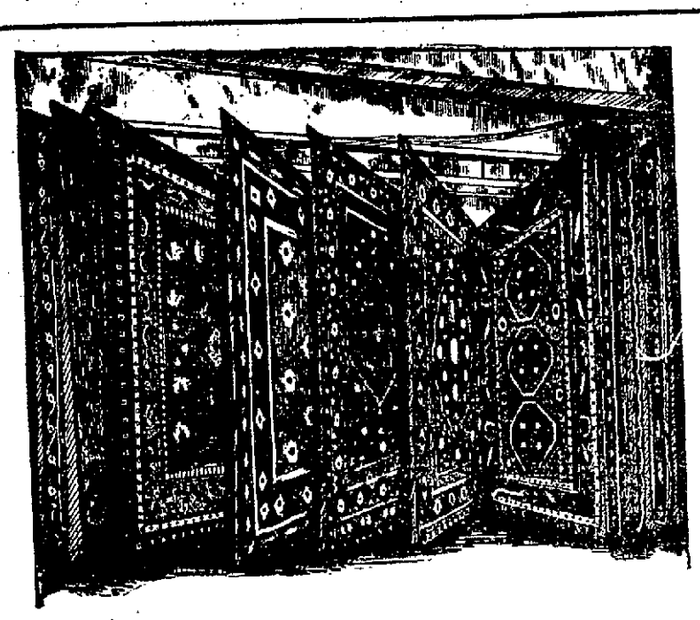
Perfection Spring



It is just what the name implies—perfection—as closely as perfection has ever been reached without paying a fortune.

Better see it; costs so little, better throw the old one away and try a PERFECTION. That's what makes buying beds here so satisfactory—you get the bed cheaper, you get a better spring and you get the credit you can appreciate.



Rugs, Carpets, Draperies

Just to say that the new things are all in—Floor Coverings such as you will relish, Floor Coverings that will give satisfaction in grade, in price, and in comparison with all you see elsewhere—the saving is manifest. But one cannot do justice to such a stock in the newspapers. A personal inspection is absolutely necessary.

WALKING SUITS FOR SPRING.

Braid trimmings will be much used on walking and street costumes this spring, in colors to match the materials of which the suits are made and also in contrasting shades. This decoration in both narrow and broad widths is used as strapping for outlining jackets, giving definiteness to certain styles of skirts, and as appropriate finishes for sleeves and collars.

As in the models from L'Art de la Mode, illustrated above, it will be seen that braid put on in simple but ornamental devices makes a plain tailored frock—of skirt and jacket—quite dressy enough for afternoon use and yet not too decorative for correct street wear.

Etiquette for Bridge and Progressive Card Players

Invitations Sent Out on Visiting Cards Give Date and Hour of Party—Guests Should Immediately Write Their Acceptance for Games.

By Rosanna Schuyler.

Giving card parties is a way of entertaining friends that is most pleasant and yet causes little trouble or expense. The refreshments may be of the lightest and the service most informal.

The invitations, if wished, may go out on visiting cards. That is, a woman may take her card, and at the top write the game that is to be played. If it is "bridge," the hostess writes "bridge," and beside it the hour that she wants the game to begin. The exact time may be put in numerals.

At the lower left hand corner the day of the week and month—as Monday, March 27—should be put in and the initials R. S. V. P. in the lower right corner, to remind persons invited that their acknowledgment of acceptance is wanted.

It seems incredible that suggestion of an answer should be necessary, for most women realize how important it is that the hostess should know just how many guests will be present to play.

An invitation sent in this form may be accepted or regretted on a visiting card, the form being: "Accepts with pleasure for bridge on Monday, March 27, at ——," whatever the hour given.

The individual giving such an affair writes notes of invitation for a card party if she wishes, but she should never omit to give not only the day of the month, but also that of the week and the hour, that there may be no misunderstanding on the part of any guests.

If the party is in the afternoon, a light cloth or velvet dress should be worn and the hat is not removed. The hostess wears a light dress, a silk, if she desires. If it is an evening party the women guests may appear in dresses cut out at the neck, but, even though they wear high necked frocks the men should be clad in evening suits with white waistcoats and white ties. As people who play cards like, as a rule, to put in the whole evening at it, eight o'clock is usually the hour for which they are invited, and for the afternoon, a quarter to three is a good time.

Small tables are arranged for the players and cards with corresponding numbers for the gentlemen and ladies are passed, each person drawing one. If every table is numbered there is no confusion, for each couple goes to a table that has numerals corresponding to those on the individual place cards. A pretty way of assigning partners is with flowers. These blossoms may be put in two baskets. One contains single blooms and the other boutonnieres. The single flowers are passed by the hostess or a young girl to the ladies and the other to the men. Those who get flowers of the same kind play together. It is understood that no two boutonnieres may be the same.

If the women wear gloves they are not taken off until the players are seated.

A careful hostess is particular about the lighting of the room, and while it seems a simple matter it is most trying if badly done. Whether candles, lamps or electric lights are used they should be so arranged that each table is lighted without a glare or reflection in the eyes of any player. With high lights, such as gas or electricity one or more lamps are almost always needed in some part of the room.

The custom of no longer having games progressive necessitates having a prize for each table, but almost never are there two awards for a table if the game has only four players at each. The prize, of course, is given to the one having the highest score. Some hostesses, that there may be no discontent, have adopted the fashion of having every gift alike, when there is one for each table. Should there be variety in them they must all represent the same value, and none needs be expensive.

When the game is progressive the old method of three prizes is followed—one for highest score, another for the second and a third for the lowest. In this case the value of the award is graded a little.

Prizes are never shown until they are given. Each is daintily wrapped and tied and carefully marked that there may be no mistake in the presentation. Guests should open them as soon as received.

At the end of the game, which is usually terminated at time mentioned by the hostess or after a certain number of games, supper is served. If the hostess wishes she may have the guests go to the dining room and the gentlemen serve the ladies. In this case, a salad, sandwiches, cakes and ices, with bonbons and nuts, punch and coffee, are quite enough and the guests seat themselves around the room.

Another way is to have the supper brought into the card tables, each table first being covered with a pretty piece of linen. In this way maids do the serving. It is perfectly good form for players, when they have finished supper, to go and talk to others if they wish.

Almost immediately after refreshments the guests take their leave, thanking the hostess for a pleasant evening.

WILL PROBE INSURANCE.

New York, April 1.—The grand jury, which is expected to take up the investigation of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, was sworn in today in the supreme court of this county. No reference to the insurance cases was made by Justice Blanchard in his address to the jury.

POINTS ABOUT THE SADDLE.

Most Riders Take What is Offered, Except in South and West.

A well-known horseman, in speaking of the sport of riding in the United States, recently said:

"Although there are a number of good riders in this country, very few men, except in the west and south, seem to know or care much about the saddle—that is, the way it is built. They simply take what their dealer gives them. In England it is usual for riders to have their saddles made to order and they generally know what to order, too.

"A good saddle fits both the horse and the man. It should be roomy everywhere and especially so in the panels if you are heavy. The throat should not be so narrow as to cause pain or so wide as to wabble. Plain flaps are most comfortable and businesslike. A felt pad or at least a good saddle cloth should always be used and to give a trim appearance it should be cut to the outlines of the saddle. It should be frequently washed and sunned. Stirrups should be open, wide and heavy, so that the feet can be readily freed in case of a spill.

"A proper fitting saddle will stick with very loose girths and you can find where it fits by walking the horse around a few minutes before mounting with the girths unbuckled. The horse will shift the saddle to the exact place where it is most comfortable. When through with your ride remove the saddle at once and bathe the back with cold water, following this, if possible, with an alcohol shampoo."

The body or mummy of David George, who died in January, 1908, at Enid, Ok., stands in a box in a local undertaking establishment awaiting identification. The claim was made that George was John Wilkes Booth and many persons believe it. All attempts to find relatives of the dead man have failed.

"Miss Nervis Hedake"

20 Years on Coffee

with dyspepsia and headache for company induced a woman to seek relief. Later on she wrote:

"If I had only 50 cents left in the world, I'll tell you how I would invest it:

Postum - - 25 cents
Grape-Nuts - 15 cents
Cream - - 10 cents

and I'd live like a queen while it lasted."

She had suffered so long that when relief came by USING POSTUM she knew its value and spoke from the heart.

This woman formerly had a visit about every 3 days from a yellow-skinned, scrawny and irritable ancient person known as Old Miss Nervis Hedake. But one day she broke friendship with her when she quit Coffee, and for the past 7 years she has been comfortable, happy and well on Postum Food Coffee. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

WERE YOU CAUGHT?

All Fools Day a Source of Much Amusement.

The person of sorrowful mien, or reflective mood who went about the streets today with his head cast down was likely to have his credulity imposed upon to a great extent. All sorts of attractive and neatly wrapped packages were laid out for a bait to the forgetful, and at the same time unsuspecting person. These were, in a majority of cases, the pranks of fun-loving persons, who safely ensconced, watched for approaching persons and beheld their chagrin and embarrassment upon the discovery of the contents of the package. The down town districts of the city were fairly lined with such articles today, and almost in every instance some person was caught.

JOURNEY OF A TREE ROOT.

Eucalyptus Sends Shoots Up Over a Wall to a Sewer.

From Santa Barbara, Cal., there comes a story of a most interesting freak of vegetable life which is strictly vouched for.

Through a certain garden there ran, some years ago, a sewer made of redwood timber. This sewer was again cased by an outside sewer. Across the sewer there was built a brick wall many feet high, and in such a way that it was pierced by the inner sewer, which it inclosed tightly, while the outer sewer ended abruptly against the wall.

The outside sewer casing had in course of time decayed and a eucalyptus tree, standing some sixty feet away, had taken advantage of this and sent one of its roots to the coveted spot in as direct a line as possible.

Here the root entered the outside sewer and followed its course as far as it could. At last it came to the wall, which shut off its course, and it could go no farther, the inside sewer being perfectly tight.

But on the other side of the wall the sewer and its double casing continued, and this eucalyptus tree evidently knew how to get there.

Some three feet high in the brick wall there was a little hole an inch or two in diameter, and this the eucalyptus tree was aware of, as its big root began to climb the dry wall and face the sun and wind until it found the hole, through which it descended on the other side and entered the sewer again and followed it along as formerly.

How did the tree know of the hole in the wall? How did it know that the sewer was on the other side? How could it direct the root to go and find the place with such precision? The roots of any plant grow always and unerringly in the direction of its food, just as the eucalyptus tree did.

There is no reaction, no regrets in "Wayne" Iron Brew. Try it.

OLD SORES FED AND KEPT OPEN BY IMPURE BLOOD

A great many people have an idea that old sores exist merely because of a diseased condition of the flesh where the ulcer is located. They patiently apply salves, powders, plasters and other external applications, but in spite of all such treatment the place refuses to heal. Whenever a sore or ulcer does not heal readily the blood is at fault; this vital fluid is filled with impurities and poisons which are constantly being discharged into the place, feeding it with noxious matter, which makes it impossible for the sore to heal. Old sores may be the result of an inherited blood taint, or the effects of a long spell of sickness, or again the circulation may be contaminated with the collections of refuse matter which the different members have failed to expel through the channels of nature. Whatever the cause the blood becomes steeped in poison and a cut, bruise, scratch or other wound often develops into a sore, fed and kept up by these impurities, causing it to eat deeper into the surrounding tissue, inflaming, festering and causing pain. External applications can only keep the sore clean; they cannot cure the trouble because they do not reach the blood. S. S. S. cures Old Sores by going to the very bottom of the trouble, driving out the impurities and poisons and purifying and building up the entire circulation. When S. S. S. has removed the cause the blood becomes rich and healthy, the sore begins to heal, new flesh is formed, the place scabs over and is soon permanently healed. LOVING HANDS LAY STAHL'S BODY TO REST

Immense Throng Attends Funeral Services of Ball Player.

Chilled to the marrow by a cold north wind that swept across their bared heads, hundreds of friends stood in beautiful Lindenwood cemetery yesterday afternoon and consigned to its last resting place the body of Charles S. Stahl and so thoroughly imbued were they with the kindly spirit of friendship and charity that in the vast assemblage there was probably not a mind but recalled the care-free lad who developed on the vacant lots of the city, of the boy in his teens who gave great promise, of the man who had earned applause and money in his walk in life, and all forgot that contorted imaginings had impelled him to seek in the great beyond solace and comfort that his impaired reasoning did not find at the pinacle of success.

Vast Throng Gathers.

If "Chick" Stahl's funeral had been held in the building in Fort Wayne that has the largest seating capacity it is likely that the walls would not have contained his friends much less the throng that was attracted, many by sympathy and others by idle curiosity, which was displayed in all its vulgarity especially at the grave where the advance guard of the Eagles had to fight its way through the ranks of women who sought places of vantage and were evidently determined to keep them regardless of disrespect and inconvenience to the funeral party. One woman crowded so close to the brink of the open grave that her skirts brushed the steel casket in which the body was placed and she was aggrieved when she was compelled to move far enough away to make room for the mourning relatives.

An hour before the time for the funeral services at the East Lewis street home crowds began to congregate and at 2 o'clock the street was so packed that it was found necessary to abandon street car traffic as the people absolutely refused to permit the cars to pass. The services consisted of the ritualistic work of the Elks followed by that of the Eagles, which were interspersed by four numbers rendered by the Apollo quartet composed of Clint Willson, Ralph Yarnelle, Herbert Lang and Percy Olds.

Grief Was Intense.

The well springs of sorrow were opened as the services closed with "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and the weeping of the good mother, the bride, the sisters and brothers started a tidal wave of tears that extended beyond the walls of the home of the family and wore itself away in the more subdued sorrow of the throng outside.

As the casket was borne from the door it passed between files of friends of the diamond who had journeyed many miles to pay a last tribute to their friend. Those in line were John I. Taylor, owner of the Boston Americans; Jake G. Stahl, former manager of the Washington Americans; Lou Criger, Fred Parrent, William Dineen and John Freeman, teammates of the deceased, and Robert McRoy, secretary of President Ban B. Johnson, representing the American league.

The funeral procession extended over several squares and was a great testimonial to the popularity of the dead ball player.

Mr. Robinson's Eulogy.

At the grave the services of the two fraternal orders were held and Hon. J. M. Robinson pronounced the eulogy, which was in part as follows:

What shadows we are, what shadows we pursue. Ambition is but the shadow of a dream. Death rides on every breeze and lurks in every flower.

My brothers, we come again to this silent city, where so many sleep, to bid farewell to one, who, passing from the brotherhood of life, has gone to the brotherhood in the great beyond.

Gone before us our brother
To the spirit land;
Vainly we look for another
In thy place to stand.

When a member of this order has been an exemplar of its teachings, when organization has made him our fellow-worker in the field of humanity, it is fitting that we should meet at this ceremony and proclaim our sanction and erect a monument of words and thoughts to his fidelity.

We honored—we loved him in life and now that he has gone to that bourn whence we cannot recall him save by kind words in gentle memories we come to weep with those who weep, to solace by kind words the bleeding hearts, to offer the benevolent and charitable lodges' tribute to the dead.

It is passing strange, but true—it is serious to reflect upon it—that one who but a short time ago was with us as a companion, taking part in the pleasures and burdens of life. In so short a time, from the smiles and pleasant greetings with which he met us here, has passed to the silence of the tomb.

Our brother has passed from the woes of this life, as well as from its joys. Though he has passed from the pleasures and happiness of this life, he is also free from its cares, miseries and dissentions. We trust that he has gone to that felicity the reward of the just.

Those who knew him, know; those who do not, can learn that when he laid down his life it came from that emotional and abnormal condition of his poor distressed mind that bordered on the irresponsible and that washed his sins away.

In the grand records of heaven it has been written by the Recording Angel and approved by the supreme and infallible Ruler of all that Charles S. Stahl was not responsible in heaven or on earth for the act that caused his death.

The christian heart is not the one that attends devotion, but the one that does a christian duty; not the one that exults alone in its own triumph, but the one that rejoices as well in the triumph of others.

No words that I can utter, no sentiments that I can express can measure the depth of our emotion at the loss of this tried, true brother; but this is more fully told than I can express it by the sad, thoughtful, tearful faces that surround this mountain of fragrant flowers from many states of the nation—eloquent tributes to the boundless esteem in which our brother was held—that came with their fragrance to waft his spirit to the better land.

The problem of life, the mystery of death is shrouded in uncertainty and doubt, but to live in hearts we leave behind is not to die.

I do not, I cannot tell, but I believe that some how, some time, somewhere, the good spirits of the world, of every church, of every lodge, of every realm, will meet.

Our brother loved his fellow men and believed that the pinnacle of ambition was reached when he did his duty to all, and such one cut down in the very flower of a young manhood leaves behind him those who will keep his memory green till we ourselves shall join that invisible choir. He squared his conduct to the golden rule.

Loved ones, philosophy teaches that we should not be grieved beyond measure for our deceased friends. They are not dead, but have only taken that course that all of us must run. We ourselves must all go to that grand place of reception where they are assembled and in that general rendezvous of mankind live together in another state of being.

Our brother rests in the bosom of his companions, brothers, friends, after a life of popularity and esteem. But the flowers each year will rise with the gentle showers of spring to bless and beautify the orders that laid him here, and to perfume and brighten the pathway of those who, weeping now, with lingering memories of the dead, will go their way till the pathway turns toward this spot, where all shall join in that fellowship that leads to the great beyond.

Let us each place a flower of love and memory on the grave of the departed; thus showing ourselves disciples of that beautiful sentiment, "With malice toward none and charity for all;" "peace on earth and good will to man." With the practice of such principles our orders will rise, flourish and march on.

With these words of tribute we lay our brother to rest like a weary wayfarer, under the shadow of the oak beneath these fragrant flowers, whose the weary sleeper will sleep on, while the forest bird sings over him its sweetest song.

The Floral Offerings.

The respect of friends in Fort Wayne and in the baseball world were shown in the form of the most exquisite floral offerings, prominent among which was that of the Boston American ball club consisting of an immense wreath of La France roses and pink-tinted carnations tied in the blue and white colors of the team's home uniforms.

On behalf of the American league there was a big spray of magnificent Easter lilies, while the Pittsburg club sent a spray of American Beauty roses that almost covered the top of the casket. From the champion Chicago Americans there was a pillar of pink carnations resting upon base of lilies with the words "White Sox" worked in purple. Washington offered a harp of roses and lilies. John I. Taylor a wreath of roses and magnificent dark foliage; Hugh McBreen, business manager of Stahl's team, a basket of exquisite roses and the Cincinnati club a wreath of roses and carnations.

The local lodge B. P. O. E. sent an elk's head and antlers worked in white carnations and the Eagles a pillow of roses; Mrs. Barbara Stahl, the mother, sent a spray of lilies and violets and the brothers and sisters of roses, ferns and rose leaves. William C. Schwier sent a wreath of carnations and roses, the St. Joe Athletic club a wreath, the Lantenier family a wreath of carnations, William Malle a spray of yellow roses, Hon. S. B. and William A. Fleming a pillow of pink roses, lilies and roses from Edward Shodell and Mrs. Hodgin, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Curley, of Boston, roses, lilies and carnations, the St. Louis Americans a wreath of roses and carnations, the Pennsylvania erecting shop lilies and ferns and the Pennsylvania team a beautiful emblem.

From the Shamrock baseball team there was a wreath on a floral pillar and this was a most fitting tribute from players, many of whom had known the dead player through the years of preparation for his successful career on the diamond.

PUBLIC NOTICE

To the People of Fort Wayne.

All persons in Fort Wayne must hold themselves responsible for any weakness or suffering caused from old age, chronic coughs or colds, bronchitis, weak lungs, run-down conditions, stomach troubles, nervousness or poor blood when we are willing to sell them the real cod liver preparation, Vinol, and return their money if it does not benefit.

The reason Vinol is so successful in restoring health and creating strength is because it contains in addition to tonic iron all the medicinal elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers, but without oil or grease to upset the stomach and retard its work.

Unlike old fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions, it is deliciously palatable, agreeable to the weakest stomach, therefore, unequalled as a strength creator and tonic reconstructor.

Because it is so well known of what Vinol is made every run-down, nervous, debilitated, aged or weak person in Fort Wayne, and every person suffering from stubborn colds, hanging-on coughs, bronchitis or incipient consumption should try Vinol on our guarantee. Meyer Brothers Co., druggists. Two big stores.

NOTE:—While we are sole agents for Vinol in Fort Wayne, it is now for sale at the leading drug store in nearly every town and city in the country. Look for the Vinol agency in your town.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., April 1.—The wheat market today opened active and firm on a good demand from commission houses and shorts. The buying was especially good in May option. The chief bullish factors were reports of rain in Kansas and statements of damage by the "green bug" in various parts of the southwest. May wheat opened unchanged to ¼c higher at 76⅛c to 76⅝c and sold at 76⅞c. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 746 cars against 644 last week and 651 cars one year ago.

The wheat market became very dull in the last half of the session and May sold down to 76⅜c. The close was steady with May ⅛@¼c higher at 76⅜@76¾c.

The corn market was exceedingly dull but small local receipts and the firmness of the wheat market held prices steady. May corn opened unchanged at 46¼c and sold at 46¼c. Local receipts were 299 cars.

Prices eased off late in the session on selling by commission houses. May corn declined to 45⅝c and closed easy and ¼c lower at 45⅞c.

The oats market was quiet and prices were steady. The firmness of wheat was the chief strengthening influence. May oats opened a shade to ⅛@¼c higher at 43c to 43¼c and for a time held within that range. Local receipts were 186 cars.

There was almost nothing doing in the provision market, but prices were firm because of the 10c advance in the price of live hogs. May pork opened 7½c higher at $18.37½. Lard was up 7½c at $9.02½. Ribs were 7½@10c higher at $8.77½.

There will be no market tomorrow, it being election day.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, April 1.—Foreign stock markets were still closed today, but business opened in the local market with considerable animation and at strong advances over last Friday's prices. Brooklyn rapid Transit and Cleveland, C. C. & St. Louis rose 2, St. Paul, Great Northern preferred and Northern Pacific 1¼, American Smelting 1⅛ and Union Pacific, Northwestern, Pennsylvania, Erie, United States Steel preferred, Amalgamated Copper and Anaconda about a point. Canadian Pacific moved contrary to the current of the market with a fall of 4¾.

The headlong decline in Canadian Pacific was brought to a sudden termination by a frantic scramble for stock which rushed it from 177½ the low price to 189¾ in a few minutes. The top figure placed it 7⅛ above last week's closing. The general market participated to a more moderate extent in the general rise that occurred. Large orders were executed for Union Pacific, Reading, Amalgamated Copper and Smelting. Some of the more notable advances were Amalgamated Copper and Brooklyn Rapid Transit 3, St. Paul and Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste Marie 2½, Smelting, Republic Steel preferred and Sugar 2½, Union Pacific and Wabash preferred, Peoples Gas 1¾ and a number of others a point or more. A reaction of 4¾ in Canadian Pacific dragged down the general list from 1 to 1½ and business became quiet. Southern Railway preferred dropped three points under Friday's closing.

Prices sagged on light transactions, leaving little of any of the early gains and establishing losses from the Friday level in many stocks. Losses ranged in Great Northern preferred to 1¾, Reading 1¼ and Kansas City Southern preferred and Interborough Metropolitan preferred 1. Bonds were firm with but few exceptions.

The tone of the market improved during the hour following midday, owing to a renewed bulge in Canadian Pacific which carried it to 189½. Elsewhere the rise did not reach the forenoon proportions and was poorly held. Canadian Pacific later went back to 187 and Great Northern preferred increased its loss to 2¼. Great Northern Ore Certificates also fell a point.

The market closed somewhat feverish and irregular. The buoyant tone which asserted itself in the later market was based on reports that a letter from President Roosevelt was about to be published which would prove reassuring to railroad security holders. The late gains in Amalgamated Copper reached 5, Union Pacific and Brooklyn Rapid Transit 4¾, Delaware & Hudson 4, Atchison, St. Paul, Northwestern, Consolidated Gas, Pennsylvania and American Smelting 3 to 3¾ and Reading, Erie, Northern Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, American Locomotive and Anaconda 2 to 2¼. The usual profit taking on the days' rise occurred before the closing and carried prices backwards to some extent. The selling was not long pursued and the reaction halted.

Day's Happenings in the Industrial World

SECTION MEN QUIT WORK.

Only the Foremen Reported for Duty On the Wabash.

Two weeks ago the section men on the Wabash notified their foremen, who in turn notified the officials, that unless wages were increased by April 1 the men would quit work. The wages were not increased and this morning not a single section hand reported for duty on the lines between this city and Logansport and so far as could be learned those on the Toledo and Detroit divisions also quit work. It is not a strike and no effort is being made to prevent other men from taking the places of those who quit. There is not another place where common labor is employed that the wages are as low as are those of section men and on the Wabash, the section men say, this is particularly true. As previously stated, section men who reside in the cities and work for the Wabash get 15 cents per hour, and those who reside in the country districts, where the cost of living is supposed to be less, receive 13½ cents per hour. The Nickel Plate gave its section men an increase in wages today and the Pennsylvania increased the wages some months ago.

YARD CLERK INJURED.

Cab Team Runs Away and Thows Herman Schulte Out of Vehicle.

Herman Schulte, yard clerk for the Nickel Plate at Stony Island, was severely injured at 1:30 o'clock this morning. He was here for a visit with his folks and had ordered the cab to call at the family home for him in time for the westbound train, which leaves the city at 2:15 o'clock. After Mr. Schulte was seated in the vehicle and the driver was climbing to his seat, the horses became frightened and started to run at a frightful pace. Mr. Schulte in his efforts to get out of the cab, fell and the wheels passed over him, severely bruising and cutting him about the body and head. He was unable to make the trip to Stony Island, but hopes to be sufficiently recovered in a few days to return to work. The driver succeeded in stopping the horses before any serious damage resulted to them or the cab.

FOUND ENGINEERS ALERT.

In 2,252 Tests Only 45 Ran Past Signals on Pennsylvania.

New York, April 1.—The Pennsylvania railroad within the last three months has held surprising signal tests on its lines in which 97 per cent. of the engineers complied absolutely with the company's rules in bringing their trains to a stop. The other 3 per cent. brought their trains to a stop, but not until after passing the signal. The men were marked deficient and severely disciplined. Of 18 trains tested on the company's main line, 98 per cent. of the engineers obeyed the rules, while on the New York division not a single engineer was caught napping. A total of 2,252 trains were involved in these tests.

LADIES WILL GO TO HUNTINGTON

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers of this city will go to Huntington next Wednesday, upon invitation of the auxiliary of that city, to exemplify the degrees to a class of applicants. They will later attend a banquet given by the Huntington lodge. On account of the trip the lodge will hold its meeting here tomorrow afternoon instead of Wednesday.

VISITORS FROM OLD HOME.

Jacob Erlenbach, of 1910 Pine street, a machinist employed in the Wabash shops, was the pleased recipient of an unexpected visit yesterday from relatives and friends from his old home in Huntington. Yesterday was Mr. Erlenbach's birthday and the guests had the anniversary in mind when they planned the visit. The day was spent most pleasantly by all and none enjoyed it more than the host. In the party from Huntington were Mrs. Mary O. Erlenbach, the mother of Jacob; Mrs. Barbara Miller, Miss Mary Miller, Miss Julia Erlenbach, Miss Lizzie Grosse, Claud Hall, Will Erlenbach, Will Grosse and Ralph Erlenbach.

FATHER OF ENGINEER EK DEAD.

A telegram yesterday brought to Engineer George Ek, of the Pennsylvania, news of the death of his father, John Ek, which occurred at the family home in Chicago. The deceased was 68 years old and was a prominent resident of the community in which he lived. Mr. and Mrs. Ek went to Chicago today to remain until after the funeral, which will take place next Wednesday.

HOMESEEKERS' SPECIAL.

Tomorrow the Wabash will start from this city a special train for the benefit of homeseekers going west. The train will leave at 11:15 a. m. and will run as a first section of the Continental limited. A large number of prospective homeseekers will start from here and others will take the special at other points along the Wabash.

WILL ENGAGE IN BUSINESS.

Orroll U. Coppock, secretary and treasurer of Perrine-Armstrong & Co., has retired from that firm and will engage inthe lumber trade on his own hook in the city.

A. J. Johnson, a helper under instructions at the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, commenced work there this morning.

Engines 1131 and 1383, of the Buffalo division, were turned out of the Wabash shops today, after receiving general repairs.

August M. Hey, a machinist's helper, and Ralph Gillett and Francis Wilkinson, laborers, are new employes at the Wabash shops.

Machinist J. L. O'Conner, who had a hand hurt at the Pennsylvania erecting shop some days ago, reported for work this morning.

Machinist Gus Meyers, of the Moline shops of the Rock Island, spent Sunday with relatives in the city. He likes his new place very well.

George Stephanson, a boilermaker who came from the Lake Shore shops at Elkhart a few days ago, has taken a position at the Wabash shops.

R. Ewig and Al. Nichter, of the Pennsylvania machine shop, have been transferred from the night to the day force and are running drill presses.

Today is the anniversary of the birth of Machinist E. C. Tierney, of the Pennsylvania round house, and he is celebrating by working as usual.

O. P. Reese, of Mahoningtown, and L. F. Johnson, of Toledo, general foreman of Pennsylvania shops, were the guests of Fort Wayne friends yesterday.

A recent acquisition to the machinists' ranks is C. F. Ayers, from the Great Northern shops in Chicago, who has taken a position at the Wabash shops.

Albert Lansdown, who resigned a position at the Western Gas works, has taken a clerical position with Agent E. H. Kirkland, at the Pennsylvania freight house.

Machinist Herman Regel has returned from St. Mary's, Ohio, where he went several days ago to repair some machinery in the Western Strawboard company's plant.

F. A. DeWald and A. L. McMaken, who had been sick, resumed their duties at the Pennsylvania machine shop this morning. Mr. McMaken had been sick with pneumonia six weeks.

Machinist John Strawbridge, who is employed in one of the big factories at Dayton, came home Saturday to spend the Easter holiday with his parents. John likes his new home first rate.

Adam Houck, who lost a thumb while at work at the Bass pattern shop several weeks ago, is getting along nicely and hopes to return to work the latter part of the week.

W. Polk, recently from Madison, Wis., and Herman Anderson, late of the Western Gas works, are new patternmakers at the Bass shops. Mr. Anderson worked at the Bass shops once before.

Foreman John D. Corlett, of the Pennsylvania round house, has leased a house on East Pontiac street, where he will reside as soon as the family and household goods can be brought down from Cleveland.

John W. Bolton, of Swan, Ind., has taken a position with the signal department of the Pennsylvania. He is a brother to James Bolton, who has worked in the department several months.

April 15, when the two cent fare law becomes effective, an increase in excess baggage rates from 12½ to 16 2-3 per cent. of the one way passenger rate will also become effective on all lines in the Central Passenger association district.

William A. Gragé, lamp man at the G. R. & I. junction, has been transferred to the signal department to work as a repairman, and W. S. Bell, lamp man at Warsaw, has been transferred to the G. R. & I. junction.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kessler have returned from their wedding tour, which took them to Virginia, the home of some relatives. Mr. Kessler is a carpenter in the bridge department of the Pennsylvania and he reported for work this morning.

Herman Schumacher, a German machinist who has been working for the past two or three years in Brazil, arrived in the city last week and this morning took a position with Foreman A. Kayser, at the Fort Wayne Electric works.

Through some extra work Saturday and Saturday night the Pennsylvania was able to dispense with Sunday labor at the freight house entirely and the employes of the department were permitted to spend Easter with their families at the various churches.

L. J. Stetter, the Pennsylvania shopman who has been very sick for some time, is recovering and was out doors Saturday for the first time since the attack came on. He is entirely free from rheumatism, but still suffers from stomach trouble.

L. J. Schmidt sent a box of cigars to the blacksmith shop of the Pennsylvania this morning, accompanied by the information that he had to "mind the baby" and would not be at work for a day or two. The baby is a handsome boy who arrived this morning.

The rate of increase in the number of Pennsylvania employes who attain the age of retirement from active service is a matter of interest. Last year there were 331 placed on the retired list and during the year 1907 it is claimed that over 500 will be retired.

Blacksmith Charles Frease, of the Pennsylvania shops, had to have a piece of steel removed from one of his hands today. The metal became embedded in the hand three weeks ago, but caused no great inconvenience until a few days ago.

Joseph Weiss resigned his position at the Pennsylvania round house today to go to Columbus to work at his trade. He is a baker, but when he got out of employment in that line eighteen months ago, he took a position at the round house and remained there until today.

Foreman J. A. Foster, of the Pennsylvania airbrake shop, who has been ill for two weeks or longer, is recovering and yesterday got down stairs to sit at the table with the other members of the family for the first time since he was taken ill. He will be at work in a few days.

There were a number of engineers and firemen of the Pennsylvania off duty yesterday and today for various reasons, included in the list being H. E. Wagner, L. M. Kyler, G. B. Whitney, J. W. McCarthy, E. L. Tenney, G. R. Childs, W. A. Grayless, S. D. Crist, C. C. Miller, W. T. McCormick and S. Gable.

Some time this week an international organizer for the International Brotherhood of Teamsters will be in Fort Wayne to stimulate activity in the order. Recently a union was organized here and, while it is doing fairly well, it is not growing as rapidly as the international association thinks it should.

Two of the houses on the site of the proposed additions to the Fort Wayne Electric works remain, because of unavoidable delay on the part of the contractor who is to move them. It is hoped they will be moved this week, however, and that when Mr. Wood returns from New York the work of excavating for the foundations for the buildings can be taken up.

Motive Power Superintendent G. J. DeVilbiss, of the Hocking Valley, is calling to his assistance some of the men who were with him when he was master mechanic of the Newark shops of the B. & O. M. A. Kinney, the round house foreman at Newark, will become general foreman of the Hocking Valley shops at Columbus April 15. Other changes will be announced later.

The Fort Wayne branch of the Patternmakers' association has elected the following officers: President, Frank A. Schram; vice president, Ed F. Wagner; secretary, Ed C. Banger; treasurer, Max Prichter; guard, J. J. Gruber; guide, August Rensman. Two candidates were taken into the order at the last meeting and the union in this city is in a very prosperous condition.

The union plasterers have postpoued the date upon which they will demand an increase of wages of from 45 to 50 cents per hour. They had previously served notice that the increase would date from April 1, but on account of some contracts based upon the old rate, the plasterers have made a later date to accommodate the contractors. The new rate, if it is granted by the contractors, will become effective May 1.

WILL FORM RIDING CLUB.

A movement is on foot among the devotees of horse back riding as a recreation and a sport to establish in this city a riding club. With the close approach of summer the desire for a vigorous and healthful exercise is felt, and this sentiment will find expression in a short time in the establishment of the club. Prominent persons of the city, both ladies and gentlemen, have shown their desire for such a club, and an active canvass for a large membership will be begun soon.

TESTING NEW ENGINE.

Fire Department is Trying Out Big Steamer.

Chief Hilbrecht and his men were engaged at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Delta lake in making a test of the new steamer just purchased by the board of public works. The machine is much larger than other engines in service in the Fort Wayne fire department, and much is expected of it. Shold the test prove satisfactory, the machine will be at once placed in service at the Central engine house.

STIFF FROST HERE BUT LITTLE DAMAGE IS REPORTED

Fruits Not Far Enough Advanced to Suffer Seriously.

Following almost a week of balmy summer weather, the temperature took a decided drop Sunday, and last night this region was visited by a heavy frost. Reports today, however, do not indicate that the damage will be heavy.

During much of the day Sunday the temperature was below the freezing point, and at midnight Sunday night the reading was 26 degrees. The lowest point reached by the temperature was at 6 o'clock this morning, when the mercury registered 23 degrees, and it was not until noon that it rose to 32 degrees which marks the freezing line. At 2 o'clock this afternoon it was 51 degrees.

Early garden "truck" alone appears to have been hit by the frost, and but little of this was above ground. Fruit trees were hardly far enough advanced toward the blossoming stage to suffer any serious damage, and on the whole it is believed that the frost did not inflict much loss upon Allen county growers.

YOUNTZ INDICTMENT IS QUASHED BY JUDGE O'ROURKE

Wells County Case is Given Short Stop in Circuit Court—Other Cases.

The indictment found by a Wells county grand jury charging W. D. Yountz, of Indianapolis, representing W. B. Burford, with forgery, was quashed in the circuit court here today after Judge O'Rourke had looked over a number of authorities submitted in connection with the motion to quash.

The attorneys did not make any arguments in the case, but simply submitted the authorities and Judge O'Rourke took most of the forenoon to consider them. The charge against Yountz was that after his employer had been awarded a contract for supplies by the commissioners of Wells county he altered some of the prices.

To Be Tried in September.

At a meeting in the court room late Saturday afternoon between Judge C. W. Watkins, of Huntington, who is to try the case against Charles Dunn, S. L. Morris, Deputy Prosecutor Harry Ninde and Judge S. M. Hench it was decided to postpone the trial until September. This agreement was reached in deference to the farmers, who are generally busy in May, and a trial next month would have seriously inconvenienced those who have been drawn for jurors.

Sues to Recover Money.

John Luce filed an action in the superior court Saturday against A. B. Jackson, Charles Beebe and Albert Heckler to recover $222 alleged to have been lost in gambling rooms over Jackson's saloon at 806 Calhoun street. He says he played in the place against a roulette wheel on March 25 and 26 and lost $72 in cash and three certificates of deposit for $50 each; on which he has stopped payment at the German-American National bank. Wood & Townsend are his attorneys.

AIR ALWAYS FULL OF DUST.

Particles Not Observed Because Too Small to Reflect Light.

"A most interesting study," a prominent government scientist recently remarked, "is that of what might be termed the foreign elements of the atmosphere. The earth's atmosphere contains an enormous quantity of dust, and it is everywhere, in the country as well as in the towns.

"The reason why we do not see it constantly is that the particles do not reflect enough light to make an impression on the retina. A ray of bright sunlight in a dark room reveals innumerable particles, and yet the millions we see are but a small proportion of the whole, being the larger particles.

"It is not at all difficult to collect these particles for purposes of study. Probably the most successful way is that first used by Pasteur, who drew a stream of air through a tube containing nitrated cotton. The cotton was then dissolved by treating it with ether and the residue washed and dried. The particles may be measured by means of a fine micrometer, a late perfection of which enables measurements of as little as one-seventy-millionth of an inch to be made.

"How these particles are loosed in the air may be readily seen when it is remembered that all mechanical action has a tendency to reduce to a powder whatever substance is in fractional contact, even the waves beating upon the shore make a dust. Rain in falling collects considerable quantities of this dust and snow still larger amounts. This accounts for the 'red snow' sometimes heard of, the color being caused by mineral particles.

"Of the total weight of the atmospheric dust about 65 to 75 per cent. is inorganic matter. This portion is absolutely harmless, but in the 25 to 35 per cent. of organic matter are to be found germs of almost every kind, and particularly in cities is this percentage dangerous to humanity.

"In the inorganic portion have been found practically all mineral substances, including the metals sodium, calcium, magnesium, aluminium, nickel, cobalt and iron. Iron appears in much greater quantity than any other metal, much of that coming from planetary space. The rushing of meteorites through space causes a friction which gradually reduces them to powder containing much iron, some of which joins the earth's atmosphere."

FEELING THE PULL.

Dr. Whitman says he was once deeply impressed by the following incident: As he was walking through the fields, he noticed a boy standing still for a long time, with his right arm raised, and his eyes gazing into the sky. "What are you looking at, my lad?" he asked. "My kite." "But I can't see any kite." "Neither can I, but I feel the pull." We may apply this idea to our acquaintance with Jesus. We need not be talking as if into the funnel of a graphophone when we kneel and pray. We can feel the pull, and this is Gods response to our prayer. How many of our boys and girls have had this experience?

A Priceless Heritage

Good health is better than wealth—it is a priceless heritage. On its possession depends, to a great extent, your social happiness and business prosperity. You should not enter life's battles handicapped with physical infirmities. It is a duty you owe to yourself, to your friends and to the world at large to throw off the shaskles of disease and stand, as nature intended, a perfect man or woman, with mental and physical powers complete. If you are troubled and wish scientific, conscientious treatment, I extend to you a cordial invitation to visit me in confidence and free of charge. I TREAT ALL CHRONIC, NERVOUS, SPECIAL AND PRIVATE DISEASES OF MEN AND WOMEN.

TO ADD VESTIBULES.

Some Improvements Will Be Made at Cathedral.

The contract for adding two new vestibules at the Cathedral has been awarded by Rev. P. F. Roche to Paul Kinder. There has been but one main door in the front, and two small doors on either side of the Cathedral, and for many years it has been noticeable that the exits were too small for the congregations.

The plans provide for the additions to be built of brick and stone on the sides, and in addition to one large front door there will be several doors at the sides, near the front of the church, and it will be possible for the largest audience to pass from the building in a very short time. The work will be begun immediately and it is expected to have it completed in a few months.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children while teething is guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30, 1906. Serial No. 1098.

The usual meeting of the woman's bible class of the Wayne Street M. E. church will be omitted this week on account of the convention of King's Daughters being held in the church.

WELLMAN PARTY OFF TO NORTH

Dr. Fowler, of Bluffton, Left Sunday to Join Party.

After a dinner party given at the New Aveline hotel Saturday night by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stevens to Dr. and Mrs. Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Murray and Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Stevens, all of Bluffton, Dr. Fowler left over the Pennsylvania for New York to join the Walter Wellman party bound for the north pole. Mrs. Fowler accompanied her husband as far as New York.

The members of the party will go direct from New York to Paris to join Mr. Wellman, who is at the head of the movement, and after a four weeks' preparatory organization, they will proceed on their mission to the arctic regions in search of the invisible, and likewise intangible, but much discussed pole of the earth. They will take provisions to last for a period of six months and hope after making a discovery that has been the constant endeavor, and cause of death to many noted explorers, to return by way of Alaska.
